ADVICES from Indiana are to the effect that the republicans there are beginning to feel that they have elephants on their hands in the persons of Taylor and Finley and many of them are outspoken in their conviction since the testimony of Gov. Bradley, that Gov. Durbin should honor Gov. Beckham's requisition for them. Gov. Durbin is said to be getting restless and to have remarked: "This thing down in Kentucky is getting bad and we can't afford to stand in front of this crowd much longer." Many now recognize that Gov. Mount, may the devil settle with him for it, made a serious mistake in setting the example of harboring criminals and that its further continuance will work lasting injury to the State. There are those, too, who believe that innocent men would court instead of avoid a judicial inquiry into the charge against them, especially since the claim can no longer be made that the court of appeals stands ready to confirm any decision of Judge Cantrell. The fact is these fugitives having confessed their guilt by flight, they are now in mortal terror of their fast approaching doom. They must fly further, if they would escape the wrath to come, but which way they fly is hell. An avenging God will pursue them with fear and remorse and should they succeed in escaping the officers their days on earth will be filled with anguish and travail. But they will not succeed in escaping the long delayed punishment. The scaffold timbers are already sawed and seasoned and the rope is ready to do its work. The blackest crime that these fiends incarnate carried to such diabolical execution will be avenged and the law fully vindicated.

ACCORDING to the statistics published in the Chicago Record-Herald, over 10,000 murders were committed in the United States last year. The figures are appalling even to Kentuckians, who are accustomed to seeing human blood spilled, and cry aloud for so stringent an execution of the law against murder as will stay the hand of those who would take the lives of their fellow man. In the table given by the Chicago paper, Texas heads the list with 1,021 murders, New York coming next with 512, California next with 422, Alabama, 461 and Tennessee, 408, Kentucky being sixth with 398. The number of hangings that resulted from these murders is not given, but it is probably not more than one to the 100. The mosaic law fully executed would stay the fearful slaughter, for men would hesitate long before they would dip their hands in human blood if they were fully convinced that they would pay the forfeit with their own lives.

THOUGH they are related, Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, who claimed that it was a monstrous outrage to accuse Capt. Ripley of being in the conspiracy to murder Goebel, is conspicuous by his absence from the defense, while Bill Owens, 'Dory Hallam and John Young Brown are likewise missing. The civil libertarians have either stopped putting up or these worthies have shut up for the good and sufficient reason that they have become disgusted with the whole dirty business of trying to keep the necks of the assassination fiends out of the halter.

THE Texas Legislature has passed and the governor signed a battery bill, which imposes heavy fine and imprisonment on lawyers who foment suits against railroads and persons, or who advance money to clients to secure such cases. If such a law were enforced here there would perhaps be hardly a sufficient number of lawyers out of jail to attend to the regular business in the courts.

THE republican organs are making a great ado over the alleged fact that the new attorney general, Knox, lives up a $50,000 income to take an $8,000 office. These papers need not tear their nether garments in proving his sacrifice. The trusts, of which he is an advocate, and was an attorney, will see that he loses nothing pecuniarily by the sacrifice.

A CONTEMPORARY, which has not been carried away with the daring exploits of "Gen." Funston and his over prompt promotion, rises to remark: "There is a suspicion upon the horizon already several times larger than a man's hand, that Funston captured Aguinaldo on plans and specifications furnished by Aguinaldo himself." Laying all jokes aside and coming down to every day solid facts, it does look a bit suspicious that the Filipino dictator should so easily and so quickly after his alleged capture, accept the "beneficent assimilation" of the government he was so lately in deadly conflict with. Unless his remarks have been strongly censored or withheld entirely, he has expressed no solicitude for his cause or shown the least concern about his "alleged capture." We do not wish to distract anything from the achievement of Funston and his party that really belongs to it, but in this era of hero making and hero breaking, we may be excused for expressing a doubt that the alleged capture was as daring as the dime novel report of it, or that its execution entitled Funston to such rapid promotion, especially over the men who had borne the heat and burden of the day.

THE prosecution in the case of Capt. Ripley for complicity in the murder of Gov. Goebel rested Saturday after in producing 47 witnesses. The defense made a motion for peremptory dismissal, but it was overruled and Attorney O'Neal stated Ripley's side of the case, in which he admitted the conversations told of by Gov. Bradley and Judge Yost, but said their memories were tricky. What Ripley did tell them that Taylor said was, "My God, these are terrible times. Goebel will be killed. I will be killed and there will be riot and bloodshed." Court adjourned at the conclusion of the statement till yesterday, when Ripley took the stand in his own behalf. He declared he did not conspire with anybody to kill Gov. Goebel and his memory was faulty about the Bradley conversation. He said that Taylor feared some crank might kill Goebel and himself.

IN our report of his testimony in the Ripley case, we unintentionally, of course, did Gov. Bradley an injustice. He did not say that Ripley told him prior to the shooting that Taylor said Goebel would not live 24 hours, but told him in May, four months afterwards, that Taylor had made the remark the day before Goebel was shot. This makes a great deal of difference as otherwise it places Gov. Bradley in the position of having guilty knowledge of what was to occur, which no one who knows him, could believe.

CAPT. LUCIEN YOUNG sent two journalists to prison at Havana because they published an article saying that he had lied. Perhaps the charge is too severe, but unless the captain has mended his ways mightily, his dearest friend could not resent the imputation that he can stretch a blanket about as far as the next man.

IT is sent out from Lincoln, Neb., that Mr. Bryan will clear over $100,000 the first year of his newspaper venture and that the possession of so much money will make the presidential bee commence to buzz in his ear again. It is doubtful that the bee has ever ceased to buzz, but it is not near as doubtful as the first statement.

NONE of the assassination organs have dared to intimate that Gov. Bradley gets a divy of that $100,000 and there isn't one of them rash enough, even though it is mean enough, to do it. And yet Gov. Bradley corroborates those who are designated by them as "perjured scoundrels."

IN order to stimulate the infant industry and replenish the decreasing population, the State of Kansas will give a prize to all parents who hereafter have twins or triplets. The result of such promise will be watched with interest.

POLITICAL.

Popular Abe Renick was renominated for the Legislature in Clark by a majority of 1,400.

Ollie M. James has announced himself a democratic candidate for Congress from the last district.

W. W. Huffman, a Kentucky exotic in Indiana, has been indicted for altering a legislative bill, after its passage. By a technicality, it is more than probable that Caleb Powers will not be tried before July or August of next year.

W. S. Taylor failed to appear to preside over the debate at Greencastle, Ind., as the sentiment was too strong against him.

The Somerset Republican made a desperate effort to have W. Kirk Boone nominated for jailor. One of its reasons for doing so was that Kirk is the only rad of his family.

Would a republican State convention, should one be held, in view of the testimony of Ex-Gov. Bradley and Judge Yost in the Ripley case, endorse the "patriotic action of Taylor"—Owensboro Messenger.

The president and several members of his cabinet will leave on the 29th on a train of Pullman palaces for a tour of the country to the Pacific coast. The trip will require six weeks and the traversing of 23 States.

Republican politicians at Washington are much wrought up over the prospect that Taylor will be sent back to Kentucky. An effort is being made to get Gov. Nash, of Ohio, to promise to protect the fugitives.

The time is past for tender treatment of the subject. William Goebel was foully murdered. It was a political assassination. There was a widespread conspiracy in high quarters. The attempt to show that the killing was a passing personal affair, for which nobody was responsible, has become a disgrace to our civilization. It has come to this, that the public or private man who does anything to further keep the conspirators out of the hands of the courts must have the contempt of all honest and decent men.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

When the democrats of the 18th Senatorial district renominated Hon. Geo. T. Farris, without opposition, they did the right thing in the right place. For the last four years Senator Farris has been prominent in legislative affairs. He is a fine speaker, a man of great ability, fears neither man nor devil and in democracy is one of the old blue hen's chickens. Senator Farris is one of the best campaigners in the State, and his election four years ago and his renomination without opposition to succeed himself is convincing demonstration of his popularity. The Times confidently predicts that Senator Farris will be returned to the Senate, to resume his position among the true, tried and staunch democratic leaders.—Glasgow Times.
